

PROCEDURAL INFORMATION FOR: FORMS 101A/101B & RENT DEPOSITS

The Clerk's Office is not allowed to give legal advice. The following information is provided solely to provide information about procedures regarding the subject noted above. You should consult an attorney familiar with bankruptcy law and rules who can provide legal advice based on your particular situation.

1. Debtors with an Eviction Judgment Against Them

If you rent your residence and your landlord has obtained an eviction judgment or a judgment for summary possession, the automatic stay that generally applies upon the filing of a bankruptcy petition may not apply. If you wish to stay in your residence for 30 days after filing the petition, you must complete and file Official Form 101A, Initial Statement About an Eviction Judgment Against You with your bankruptcy petition.

2. Required Certifications in Form 101A

Form 101A provides 2 certifications to be signed under penalty of perjury:

- You must certify that there are circumstances under nonbankruptcy law that would permit you to cure the monetary default that resulted in the eviction judgment, and
- You must certify that you have given the bankruptcy clerk a deposit for the rent that would be due for the next 30 days after filing the petition.

3. Rent Deposit

The deposit of rent due for the next 30 days that is given to the clerk must be paid with a money order or certified or cashier's check payable to the landlord. No personal checks or cash payments will be accepted. The clerk will send the rent deposit to the landlord.

4. Stay of Eviction

As noted on the Form 101A, if you (i) check both boxes for these certifications, (ii) sign the form to certify that both apply, and (iii) serve your landlord with a copy of the Initial Statement About an Eviction Judgment Against You, the automatic stay will apply to the continuation of the eviction against you for 30 days.

5. Non-Compliance - No Stay of Eviction

If you do not comply with the certification requirements and do not make a rent deposit, the clerk will file a Notice Regarding Applicability of Exception to Stay Under 11 U.S.C. Sec 362(b)(22). This will advise you and the landlord that the 30-day stay of the eviction does not apply. The clerk will send you and the landlord certified copies of this notice and the docket indicating an absence of the certifications.

6. Remaining in Your Residence After 30 Days

If you filed the Initial Statement About an Eviction Judgment Against You and served a copy on your landlord, and wish to continue to stay in your residence, you must complete and file Official Form 1010B, Statement About Payment of an Eviction Judgment Against You. You must file this form within 30 days after filing your bankruptcy petition and you must serve a copy on your landlord.

7. Required Certifications in Form 101B

Form 101B provides 2 certifications to be signed under penalty of perjury:

- You must certify that under state or nonbankruptcy law that you have the right to stay in your residence if you pay your landlord the entire delinquent amount of rent, and

- You must certify that within 30 days after filing your bankruptcy petition, you have paid the entire amount owed, as stated in the eviction judgment or judgment for summary possession.

8. Notice to Landlord of Deadline to Object to Certification

After paying the full amount of the delinquent rent and filing the Statement About Payment of an Eviction Judgment Against You, you must file and serve on the landlord a notice substantially conforming to the local form Notice of Deadline to Object to Certification Regarding Rent Payment, providing the landlord a 14-day period to object to your certification that you have paid the delinquent rent in full. If an objection is filed, the court may set a hearing to determine the issue.
